MERCHANTS PLAN YULE SEASON EVENTS; TREES TO LINE CITY STREETS

Council Contributes $250 To Assist Retailers

Plans for the annual Christmas decoration of the business district of Redwood City were made at a meeting of the Redwood City Retailers held Monday night in the fire house hall. Al Davies, president, presided.

Bids were ordered for placing 100 Christmas trees in the flagpole holes in front of the stores and for 4000 feet of green Christmas garlands to be hung between the electroliers. The bids are to cover the cost of placing the decorations and taking them down. They are to be in by November 7 and are to be mailed to the Redwood City Retailers, box 127, Redwood City.

The annual Christmas party for children of the community was to be referred to another organization desirous of handling this event.

The decoration of the streets was placed in the hands of a committee composed of George McQueen, R. W. Murphy, C. R. McKenzie and Mrs. Marguerite Glasgow.

A finance committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. Simpson Reinhard, Milton R. Hinds, Clarence Choate and Elmore B. Hinman.

The decorations for 1931 are to be more elaborate than ever before and will assist in great measure to create the Christmas spirit early in the season.

Redwood City merchants are already preparing for the Christmas season with larger stocks of merchandise and greater varieties.

A feature of the holidays will be the merchants' window decoration contest for The Tribune cup, won last year by Gardiner's. Open house will be held on that night, which is scheduled for early in December. It will be the official opening of the Christmas shopping season in Redwood City.

At the request of the finance committee of the Retailers, the city council last night voted $250 toward the community's yearly Christmas program.

County Clerk Hinman was spokesman for the group. Others who called on the council were Mrs. Reinhard, Hinds, Davies and McQueen.

EMPLOYMENT AID GROUP REPORTS FINANCING PLAN

Reports of sub-committee on employment, finance and the sick and destitute were made at a meeting of the general committee for unemployment relief in Redwood City at the city hall last night.

The sub-committees formulated preliminary plans for securing employment for Redwood City people, for raising funds with which to carry out the relief program, and for investigating cases requiring medical or financial assistance.

A thorough canvass of Redwood City homes and stores for odd jobs was suggested by the employment committee, of which Louis Jenkins Jr. is chairman. All persons having such work to be done are requested to notify Maj. G. H. Pryor at the office of Mayor Daniel R. Stafford, telephone 179, where a list of those seeking work is registered. Major Pryor states that the trustworthiness of persons dispaetched upon work around homes and stores is investigated before they are sent out from his office.

According to Mayor Stafford, general chairman, the meeting developed an active campaign for unemployment relief under way with the adoption of ways and means of financing the movement.

Mrs. Crocker Home For Recuperation

Brought from Oakland to Burlingame by a special train, Mrs. William H. Crocker, wife of the Hillsborough capitalist, was back at home today in much better health. She was stricken in Paris and underwent an emergency operation on the liner Bremen while the boat was America-bound.

Mr. Crocker, who went to New York to meet her and their daughter, the Countess De Leinour Curtis, said the shortness of his eastern visit did not give him time to study the economic situation carefully.

"Good times are bound to come soon, of course," he said.

SAN MATEO COUNTY PROVIDES SUM TO HELP ITINERANTS

Adopting the recommendation of the San Mateo County Employment Committee, the board of supervisors Monday voted $1,000 toward establishment of a shelter and feeding station for itinerants and unemployed.

The sum is to be spent under the supervision of County Purchasing Agent Ernest Werder. The employment committee is to decide where the camp is to be established.

This was declared by Chairman Matthew Harris of the employment committee to be the first step in solving the relief problem of the peninsula. He said with this disposed of, that the committee will immediately consider the next phase: That of finding jobs and funds for the peninsula's own residents.

The fund was voted through motion of Supervisor John Poole, Redwood City, and second of Supervisor Rosalie Brown, San Mateo. It is to be taken from the unbudgetted reserve.

In a communication to the board, the supervisors were asked by the mayors' and councilmen's association to establish the camp. It is proposed that other counties do the same, and that the state establish 20 such camps.

In another communication, the board was asked by the state to consider any projects which the county might undertake this winter to relieve unemployment. The state may contribute 60 per cent toward these projects if the county is in a position to pay the 40 per cent, the board was informed.

At the suggestion of Supervisor Poole and Brown, the matter was laid over to November 16 for consideration to see if any projects might be undertaken.

CLEARY MAY GET EXECUTIVE POST

Alfred J. Cleary, who surveyed the water resources of Redwood City, San Carlos and Belmont for the three municipalities about a year ago, is among the leading contenders for the office of chief administrator in San Francisco.

The appointment is to be made by Mayor Angelo Rossi. Cleary is at present his secretary, and is a well-known consulting engineer.

Others mentioned for the post include Prof. Edwin A. Cottrell of Stanford University, and Prof. Samuel C. May of the University of California, both of whom gave helpful advice to the Redwood City Board of Freeholders which drafted the new form of city government here.

The post pays $12,000 a year.

Firemen's Fund For Orphans In Dispute

BURLINGAME, Nov. 4.—What to do with the $8,000 widows' and orphans' fund on hand when the volunteer fire department walked out on the city recently was the problem which confronted the city council here.

Attorney Fred W. Comba, representing the discharged firemen, said the city had no claim to the funds. City Attorney John F. Davis agreed, but said that since the funds were raised for widows' aid, the city was desirous of seeing that it was so spent.

Davis, Comba and the fire commission were asked to work out a trust agreement for the funds.

Humboldt Sheriff Calls For Two Men

Sheriff Arthur A. Ross of Humboldt county was here Tuesday to take back two men who have been held in the county jail in connection with a Burlingame service station burglary.

The men, Raymond Crawford, 27, and Robert Crawford, 35, are wanted in Eureka for petty theft, Sheriff Ross informed Sheriff James J. McGrath's office.

BURLINGAME, Nov. 4.—The city council here adopted a resolution calling upon Gov. James Rolph to request the federal government to open the abandoned army camps throughout California for use of the itinerants and unemployed.

WELL MURDER TRIAL BRIEFS ARE ON FILE

Minnie Roderick And William Woodring Seek Re-Hearing

Within 90 days, Mrs. Minnie Roderick and William Woodring, both now serving life terms in San Quentin for the slaying of Frank Roderick, La Honda rancher, will know whether they are to have a new trial.

Final briefs in the appeal were filed Wednesday in the District Court of Appeal, First District, Division 2, in San Francisco, and the case was ordered submitted. As a criminal case, it will take precedence over other litigation, but no immediate decision is expected.

The briefs were filed on behalf of Woodring by Attorneys Gilbert D. Ferrell and Fred W. Comba of Redwood City, and for Mrs. Roderick by Attorney Joseph Bullock of Redwood City.

Appeals are based on the order of Superior Judge George H. Buck denying the two defendants a new trial.

Both were convicted of the slaying of the La Honda rancher, whose body was found in a 30-foot well after his disappearance May 15, 1930.

WANDA KRASOFF IS GUEST ARTIST FOR MUSICAL PROGRAM

Wanda Krasoff, widely known San Francisco pianist, will appear as the guest artist on the choral program to be presented at Sequoia Union High School Saturday evening under the direction of Otis M. Carrington.

Miss Krasoff, who has achieved prominence in the past few years as accompanist for Tito Schipa, the tenor, and for her work under Paderewski and Hoffman, has a background of music. Her grandfather was a grand opera singer with Tetrazini, and other members of her family have gained reputations in the vocal and instrumental fields of music.

Two choral groups, one of 80 voices and the other of 60, will participate in the program, which takes the place of the annual fall operetta at the high school and which will be given free of charge.

In addition to the choral numbers and Miss Krasoff's selections, several student singers will appear. Lue Harrison, newly discovered boy tenor, will sing a solo and will also participate in a duet with Stanley Schaller, boy alto. Dorothy Hunt, soprano, and Hugo Endrigo, baritone, are other soloists.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON ZONE CHANGES AT MENLO PARK

MENLO PARK, Nov. 4 — The Menlo Park City Council will be called to act on proposed changes in the city zoning ordinance at its meeting next Tuesday evening following approval by the city planning commission at a hearing in the city hall.

Several residents of the district near Oak lane drive strongly protested the zoning change which would permit the construction of a clubhouse there. It is expected that the opposition, of which Alexander Walker was one of the leaders, will be continued at the city council meeting.

Another zoning change approved by the planning commission provided less stringent requirements for the construction of buildings in the business zone.

SUB-GROUPS TO STUDY CHARTER ARE APPOINTED

Freeholders Would Be Handed New Government Form

Five sub-committees of the study committee of the San Mateo County Charter Committee were named by Frederick Peterson, chairman of the group and Burlingame councilman, at a meeting in the Burlingame City Hall Wednesday night.

The newest committees are:

Official personnel—Heim Goldman, San Mateo, chairman; E. E. Bramble, George Dunn, H. S. Thorne and Thomas Pennington.

Public improvements—John F. Davis, Burlingame, chairman; Horace Amphlett, Alvin Hatch, J. Cambiano and E. L. Norberg.

Utilities and institutions—Ernest Wilson, San Mateo, chairman; Dr. C. L. Morgan, Joseph Quinlan, Carl Stoner and W. H. Weeden.

Public welfare—Arthur H. Redington, Hillsborough, chairman; Floyd Tower, J. C. Williamson, J. Altieri and R. Guy Smith.

Finance and auditing—John W. Coleberd, South San Francisco, chairman; Carl Wagner, A. B. Cargill, Merritt Hosmer and J. C. Russell.

It is the purpose of this committee to virtually tear apart the existing government of San Mateo county and to suggest changes to remedy present recognized governmental ills. Findings of the committee will not be forthcoming for several months, and will be submitted to the study committee of the charter group before they are passed on to the parent body.

If approved, the recommended changes will be submitted to the supervisors, with a request that the board call an election for freeholders. The freeholders would then be handed the recommendations of the county committee.

Members of the personnel committee declined to comment last night on the suggestion that the supervisors be elected by the voters of the county as a whole instead of by districts, as at present. The suggested method, its proponents declare, would preclude the factionalism now said to be interfering with the work of the San Mateo county board.

Month's Fire Loss Estimated At $300

Forcing the front door with a jimmy, a burglar Tuesday, between the hours of 7:30 and 10:30, entered the house of Emmett Donnelly, 918 Blanford boulevard, taking loot estimated to be worth from $100 to $150.

About $20 in nickels and dimes, a gold watch, a topaz ring and other trinkets were stolen. Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly were away at the time. They reported the burglary to Officers Clyde Genochio and Edwin Fogarty of the night watch. Police Sergt. Stanley Wood and Officer S. E. Douglass investigated the case today.

PUBLIC'S ABILITY TO PAY SHOWN IN CO. TAX RECEIPTS

Return of confidence and the ability of San Mateo county residents to pay is shown in the collections of county taxes for the first two days, County Tax Collector Ambrose McSweeney reported yesterday.

The first day's receipts totaled $45,000, far in advance of previous opening days, McSweeney reported. The second day's receipts totaled $25,000, making a double-day collection well above the average, he said.

Of the $70,000 paid in so far, McSweeney reported that not a single protest has been filed against the inclusion of several special levies. The tax collector reported, however, that telephone calls have been received from a number of large taxpayers announcing that they will protest the special levies, putting them to a probable court test.

These levies included the sums set out for the La Honda road, Memorial Park road and Sunnyvale dirigible base purchase, which the attorney general ruled should have been placed in the general fund.

First installment taxes were due November 2, and will become delinquent on December 5, when a 10 per cent penalty will be added.

$30,000 SUIT AGAINST CHIEF OPENS TUESDAY

False Imprisonment Charge Will Be Heard By Jury

Two days have been allotted for hearing the $30,000 false imprisonment suit brought by George Parris, 29, former proprietor of a Redwood City skating rink, against Police Chief C. L. Collins.

The trial will open next Tuesday in Superior Judge Franklin Swart's court. Collins will be defended by City Attorney Albert Mansfield. Parris will be represented by Attorneys Eugene H. O'Donnell and Leland J. Lazarus. A jury will hear the evidence.

Parris was held by Chief Collins on September 13, 1930, after returning from Half Moon Bay, and was alleged to have contributed toward the delinquency of Harold Shea, a San Mateo boy, who is asserted to have become under the influence of liquor served at an all-night beach party. The Shea boy's brother was also in the party, and Redwood City officers reported both were unable to move, apparently from the effects of liquor, and were placed under the care of a Redwood City physician.

Parris declares he was kept in jail four nights and more than three days and that he was not permitted to consult an attorney or friends. The charge was subsequently dismissed.

Excessive Rate On R. C. Freight Alleged

Atlas Olympia Company Ltd. of San Francisco has filed a complaint with the railroad commission alleging that the freight rate of 3½ cents per 100 pounds charged by the Southern Pacific Company on building, road and concrete materials, sand and gravel shipped from Olympia, Cal., to Redwood City, is excessive.

The company asks a refund of the difference between the 3½ cent rate and a rate that the commission will hold to be proper on all shipments of the above materials it has made between these points.

EXTRA POLICE ON DOG TRACK DUTY; KENNEL LAW READ

BELMONT, Nov. 5. — Eleven deputies have been appointed by Chief of Police Irvin Hansen to serve at the dog racing track here as special officers, it was announced at a meeting of the city council last night. The men sworn in are John Ramos, James O'Hanlon, Floyd Glennan, Claude B. Ray, Clarence Johnson, Ben Yount, George Little, Edward Mallard, Manuel Valladeo, H. E. Comstock and Fred Graham.

Chief Hansen ordered additional badges for the police. Promoters of the course will pay for the badges.

Ordinance No. 26, regulating the keeping of dogs within the city, was given its first reading, on motion of Councilman C. J. Messner, seconded by Louis Vannier. Dogs under six months are exempt. Otherwise, it is unlawful for any person to keep more than three dogs at a home or establishment without a council permit. City Attorney Albert Mansfield stipulated that the permit must be left on file with the council for ten days before action is taken. This procedure, he said, will give the residents an opportunity to file any complaints with the council against the keeping of dogs in the neighborhood.

The council granted the Union Paving Company an additional 90 days on Resolution No. 2 for street work assessments in Belle Monti, and then adjourned to attend the dog races in a body.

ENGINEER TELLS OF BEING BEATEN BY TWO ROBBERS

Assailants of Charles Tiserand, 32, a San Francisco marine engineer, who Tuesday was taken "for a ride," according to a story told to police of Daly City and San Francisco, were being sought today.

The engineer reported that two men invited him to take a ride to San Mateo county and then attacked him in the lonely Pedro Valley region. They struck him over the head with a black jack and cinched a rope about his neck, Tiserand said.

He was then robbed of $14 and pushed down an embankment, where he lay only partly conscious for several hours. Two shots were fired at him as he slid down the cliff. Passing motorists took Tiserand into Daly City, and later he went to San Francisco, where he reported the attack to police departments of the two communities.

MAN'S BODY FOUND ON COUNTY COAST

Identified as that of Jacob Sonnenschein, missing San Francisco business man, a body was found at the mouth of Pescadero creek on the San Mateo county coastside Sunday by Gregorio Pagalina, fisherman.

Deputy Coroner Manuel Dutra of Half Moon Bay said the right arm had a deep wound which might have been inflicted by a bullet, but which more likely was caused by a jagged rock. Coroner J. C. McGovern said the wound could have been made by a bullet only if the man's arm had been raised.

Need Of Crossing Signal Pointed Out

Need of an advance warning signal on the Southern Pacific crossing on Broadway, Redwood City, is pointed out in a letter received by the board of supervisors Monday from the State Railroad Commission.

Copies of the same letter were sent to City Manager E. A. Rolison of Redwood City, and J. W. Johnson, chief engineer of the California State Automobile Association. The matter was referred to Supervisor John Poole, Redwood City, by the board.

Contract Let For New Conveniences At Yacht Harbor

Extension of Rogers street from Arguello street to the Bayshore highway will cost approximately $25,000 for a 60-foot street, and $18,600 for a 40-foot street, City Engineer C. L. Dimmitt reported to the city council Monday night.

Dimmitt's plans would call for a permanent type paving from Arguello street 1600 feet east to the Pulgas line. A 1300-foot fill would then be necessary and this would be temporarily surfaced until settled, the city engineer reported.

The 1600-foot frontage on the Rogers street extension for a 60-foot street would be assessed $6.75 per front foot, or $10,800. The 1300-foot frontage, which is across Tacoma Mill Company holdings, would be assessed $4 per front foot, or $5200. The balance of the money would be raised by taxing the 900 lots in the district $10 each or $9000.

40-Foot Figures

Figures on a 40-foot street are: 1600 feet of frontage at $5 per front foot, or $8000; 1300 feet of frontage at $3 per front foot, or $3900, and 900 lots at $7.50, or $6750.

The engineer's plans would call for an 80-foot fill whether the 40-foot or 60-foot street were built.

Pending a conference with the Tacoma Mill Company as to costs and rights of way, the engineer's report was ordered filed by the city council.

Contract Is Let

Contract for the building of the rest rooms and shower baths at the Redwood City Yacht Harbor was let by the city council to Russell & Duncan of Redwood City on the low bid of $1176. The bid was accepted upon motion of Councilman Paul McCarthy, seconded by Councilman Charles Hildebrant.

Other bids were: Roy Lind, $1637; Louis N. Pollard, $1672; Emil Berndsten, $1192; L. F. Bourquin, $1335.

Yacht Club Rent Up

Following a report to the board from Councilman Henry Beeger that the Redwood City Yacht Club has not been paying its rent of $25 per month for the past three months because the city owes the club $90, the council ruled that it owed the club nothing.

City Manager E. A. Rolison was instructed to collect the rents due the city.

Beeger explained that the club was charging him $5 per month as the city's representative on the board of directors of the club, but that the city hasn't been paying this sum. It was the understanding of the city that the board's official representative would not be charged the regular dues.

Beeger was asked to intermediate between the yacht club and the Redwood City Sportsmen's Club to see if the latter group will take over the former's lease for the city's clubhouse.

Bills Must Be Paid

Leonard & Holt, Emerald Lake developers, will be notified by City Manager Rolison that water bills due the city must be paid up monthly hereafter, or the water supply from the city's reservoir will be shut off.

It was reported to the council that approximately $2200 is now due the city.

City Finances Good

C. E. Piatt, certified public accountant in charge of the city's audit, reported to the council that the three months' check up showed the city's best financial interests well protected.

All cash is accounted for, the city funds are safeguarded, and all city employes bonded, Piatt informed the council. His report was filed on motion of Councilman Charles Lambert, seconded by Councilman William Dusel.

Sign Bids Held Up

Bids on the reconstruction of the Redwood City entrance sign on El Camino Real at Broadway were ordered held up until November 16 on recommendation of City Manager Rolison, who wished time to study them.

Dave L. Walter asked the installation of lights on the Bayshore highway where the city streets connected with that thoroughfare, and was informed that steps have already been taken to install them.

City Manager Rolison was asked to investigate insurance policies on protecting the city against liability should a street banner fall down and cause an accident.

Councilman Dusel asked the city to paint a white stripe in the center of Woodside road within the city limits. This was referred

By W. CARDINAL O'CONNELL
Archbishop of Boston

I cannot permit the fiftieth anniversary of the Red Cross to pass without a word of hearty congratulation and commendation. A half century of unselfish service to humanity, as the agency of mercy and relief, is a glorious record which deserves the unbounded gratitude of all men of all classes.

The work of the Red Cross stands out as one of the most consoling chapters in the history of our great republic. Born upon the battlefields in the midst of suffering and death, its noble purposes have been fulfilled on every occasion when affliction has come upon humanity.

It has been truly said that the American Red Cross is America's answer to the cry of human distress or need. It has placed our beloved country before the world as a nation of mercy and fraternal charity. In the late war it proved that patriotism did not prohibit care of the fallen enemy as well as our own heroes. In its efforts during the past year to relieve suffering it has again demonstrated its readiness and efficiency to immediately meet the cry of distress. Its record clearly proves the greater the emergency, the more impressive its performance.

I am sure that the people of th's country will glady respond to the Roll Call of the Red Cross, an organization which has renewed the spiritual life of our nation, while at the same time bringing unnumbered material blessings to all men.

Woodside

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hooper have returned to their home in San Francisco after an extended summer season spent with their children at their home in Woodside. But their children have returned to school, John to the Thatcher School in the Ojai Valley and Miss Peggy to the Katherine Branson School at Ross.

Rupert Bradley returned this week from Lake Tahoe where he has been for the past four months.

Miss Helen Scott, the new student teacher assigned to the local school, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. George Ferguson at the Woodside Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Dudley, who purchased a new place in the "Glens" a few months ago, have made a remarkable change in the appearance of their property during the few months of their residence. The hillside has been terraced, hundreds of feet of retaining wall built of the native rock already partly covered with trailing vines, gardens planted and brought to bloom and a roadway anchored to the sloping face of the rock cliff.

Any but a seasoned resident of Woodside would have needed a guide on Sunday morning after the visit of the witches on Halloween. Street signs faced the wrong way, glaring real estate signs were posted before the most conservative private residences and the school flagpole advertised gasoline for sale. Certainly some unused energy was in need of an outlet.

The Woodside Parent-Teacher Association met in its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the school auditorium. The speaker for the occasion was Miss Clara Dills, County Librarian.

The Bear Gulch Water Company is putting ina new pipe line along the lane between the west line of the Chamberlain property and the Live Oak Market at the summit of Woodside grade and the Fire Commission will place a fire hydrant at the end of the line for the better protection of a large tract of grass and brush land that leads down to a number of residences along the Shine Road.

The volunteers of the Woodside Fire Department are looking forward to a visit from Chief Brennan of the San Francisco Department at their next regular meeting.

The annual banquet of the Fire Department has been set for the evening of November 18 and will be held at the Woodside Inn.

Books

By WARE TORREY

Revolution in Central America, sabre play and mounted charges, where "death came like a medal to be worn" fill the pages of "Sparks Fly Upward," the new novel by Oliver La Farge, author of the 1929 Pulitzer Prize book, "Laughing Boy."

Fighting and conspiracy, a belief in the rights of the oppressed Indians, provided by Don Esteban de Cerromayer with the means of raising himself from a subservient position to the rank of general and the honor of a general who saved his country. More importantly, as Esteban rose in prestige his overshadowing personal problem clarified.

His mother was Indian; he gained Spanish blood through his father, a low-caste muleteer. Because his mother had saved Geronimo Cerromayer's life, Esteban was brought up under Geronimo's patronage. His uncertain social position was complicated, when Esteban and Geronimo's young wife Favia fell in love.

Esteban strove for power and recognition, to win equality with Favia. As he progressed, he realized his innate sympathy with the Indian cause.

When Esteban finally emerges on a high plateau of success, he sees before him a choice, not merely between Favia, widowed, and Marta, the Indian soldadera who has followed him through the campaigns—but between identification with the caste that Favia represents and allegiance to his own Indian people.

Esteban's development, in preparation for this final decision forms the underlying theme of the book. Oliver La Farge indicates the theme through a spirited story. In it is found the same skillful writing that signalized "Laughing Boy."

An Innovation

A distinctive marker of the literary year is Virginia Woolf's novel, "The Waves." Mrs. Woolf adds still another literary method to her innovations in fiction by writing her book entirely in soliloquy.

From the thoughts of each character is gleaned insight into the person, and perspectives upon the other characters. Action and scenes appear through the same medium. "The Waves" is interesting reading, and a valuable experiment.

E. F. Benson provides his specialized brand of entertainment in "Mapp and Lucia," a comedy of the social queens of Tilling. The entire village is pleasurably involved in the war between dearest Liblib and dear Lulu, otherwise Miss Mapp and Lucia.

Battles multiply, with weapons of dinner parties, art exhibitions and fetes interspersed with minor engagements of verbal combat. The story rises to a hilarious climax, when the two women float out to sea on a kitchen table.

Tracing a Family Career

"Broome Stages" by Clemence Dane, is a history of a dynasty of the English stage. The first Richard Broome was born in 1715, and proved his theatrical blood at an early age by falling through a barn roof onto the stage of "Midsummer Night's Dream." The last Richard Broome played to a moving picture public. Through seven generations, Miss Dane traces the career of a vital and vivid family.

Many talking pictures being made in Sweden are to have French versions.

Many combination shop and residence buildings are being erected in Hong Kong, China.

In Times of Adversity The Thanksgiving Custom Is of Highest Usefulness

On the very day that President Hoover's Thanksgiving proclamation for 1931 was being drafted for publication in the next day's papers, an editorial writer in the San Francisco News penned this paragraphic crack: "The literary secretary who has to write President Hoover's Thanksgiving proclamation will earn his salary this year." And that crack and the proclamation itself were published on the same day. The proclamation said in part:

"Our country has cause for gratitude to the Almighty. We have been widely blessed with abundant harvests. We have been spared from pestilence and calamities. Our institutions have served the people. Knowledge has multiplied and our lives are enriched with its application. Education has advanced. The health of our people has increased. We have dwelt in peace with all men. The measure of passing adversity which has come upon us should deepen the spiritual side of the people, quicken their sympathies and spirit of sacrifice for others, and strengthen their courage."

In spite of the "measure of passing adversity" to which the proclamation alludes, the people of America today have greater reason for gratitude than did the hardy colonists who, despite the greater severities, setbacks and griefs which were their lot, were moved to set a special day apart for the thanksgiving occasion which is the historic precedent for our own annual observance.

Because it sets us to work sifting the blessings from the hardships, and focuses attention onto the more pleasant phases of current conditions, Thanksgiving reaches its highest usefulness in such years as this one.

If Sauce for the Goose Why Not for the Gander?

A San Francisco judge has held that a husband is liable for debts of his wife incurred prior to marriage. By inference then it is to be assumed that a wife is obliged to do all of the mending and darning jobs accumulated in the husband's wardrobe during his bachelor days. Or is that already general custom?

Nicolls Boy Presents Another Baffling Case That Knows No Remedy

Opinions vary on the propriety of sending 12-year-old Hubert Nicolls, murderer of a sheriff in Washington, to the penitentiary for life. One view is that the boy should have been hanged, because his history and psychic analysis indicate that he undoubtedly would always be a criminal. Another view is that the youth should have been given a chance—something that has been denied him heretofore. And in between these two opinions is a third school of thought that holds that the boy should not be turned loose or imprisoned either, but should be sent somewhere to be treated.

Strange to say, all three of these conflicting opinions are right, and yet all three are wrong. There is reason to believe that the youth is hopeless. But sending him to the penitentiary for life does nothing to increase the probability of any salvage from the premature wreckage of his psychic and moral makeup.

The boy may have been denied all chance heretofore—and yet to liberate him for a further period in the hope of a reformation from some vague source would be but to expose others to the possibility of the Walla Walla sheriff's fate—with the noose waiting to claim the murderer ultimately.

Undoubtedly the most ideal of the three procedures recommended would be to send the boy "somewhere" for corrective treatment. But unfortunately that is the least practical of the several courses proposed. Send him "somewhere" for treatment—but where? And for just what treatment?

Society knows no answer yet for the questions raised by such cases as that of the Nicolls boy. And until definite answers are forthcoming, there seems to be nothing to do except remove the offender from where he can do harm to others. The living death to which the boy has been sentenced in the penitentiary is the worst of the several alternative fates that could befall the boy. But it at least protects society from any further offenses at his hands.

POP'S COLUMN

If you whistle while you work you are a moron, says some smart college feller. By the same logic I reckon if you use your ears to flap flies off the top of your head you are a Democrat. I shall continue to whistle.

What is more appropriate than to ship trunks full of dead women to Los Angeles. The live ones are shipped to Hollywood.

Will Rogers seemed amazed to learn that G. B. Shaw had suddenly come out in favor of prohibition. Will should remember that G. B. S. has just returned from Russia. I remember that when Will Rogers visited Monte Carlo on his world tour a few years ago, he came out the next day with a strong denunciation of all kinds of gambling—and cabled home for some more money.

The poor ye have with you always — unless you offer them work. In that event they will either go away and leave you, or they will go to work and no longer be poor.

Famous last words: "Thanks, a lot, old man. I'll return this 10 bucks next week!"

It sure was a break when the navy decided to build that second dirigible, because it was nearly half built already.

Arthur Brisbane says why not forget than ten billions of dollars Europe owes us, and go on about our business? Oh, yeah? Well, I haven't seen Arthur's boss giving away any of his surplus millions, have you?

I heard this: Somebody ran down the main business street in Watsonville the other day, shouting, "The bootlegger's house is on fire!" And in a minute every business man in the street had grabbed his hat and was running home.

Healdsburg has an organization called the "Future Farmers of America." Just now I suppose they are taking advanced study in golf, polo, automobile racing and aeroplaning.

The First National Bank in my old home town in Missouri closed its doors the other day after nearly half a century of prosperous business. The reason given for the closing was very simple; they said: Everybody has been taking money out; nobody has been putting any in, and the bank can't collect any of its loans. Aside from that there didn't seem to be anything the matter with the bank.

Old Uncle Billy Bozarth was about the safest weather prognostigator I ever knew. Met Uncle Billy in the road one day. We stopped to talk. "Well, Uncle Billy, do you think we shall have some rain before long?" Uncle Billy squinted his eye to the north and to the south and to the east and to the west; he dropped his head and meditated for a spell; then he spit tobacco juice as far as from here to that old gum stump, and then he said: "Well, hit ain't no ways certain. Hit 'pears wet, and hit 'pears dry!"

Old John Coffy was old as the hills and he never had been married. Lived with some kinfolks. One time a sprightly young school ma'am came to teach in our school, and she happened to speak kindly to old John one day when she met him in the road, and the old fool went crazy. I said to him not long after that: "John Coffy, ain't you never a-goin' to get married?" "Well," he said, straightening up his old creaky back and grinning his toothless grin of senility, "I hain't never cal'lated none on a-gettin' marr'd; that's none to speak of, ontell here lately. But I ain't ashamed fer to tell ye, young feller, 'at effen this here new school ma'am'll hev me, I might change my mind; but effen she won't, well then my name'll allers be Coffy!"

Judge Alexander was the most extensive farmer in our part of the country. Had more than a thousand acres of mighty fine land. Rich. Once he sent east and got a lot of young carp fry and planted them in a big pond he owned. Then he had the niggers build a high, tight fence around the pond to keep the cattle from wading in there and killing the fish. When I saw that fence I asked one of the niggers what the judge had built a fence there for. "Why, de jedge, he des had dat fence put dar so's dem new cyarp fishes won't get out and bite de cattle, suh," the nigger said, and I believed it!

My Uncle John hired a green Irishman immigrant one spring to work on his farm. My uncle set the new hand at work harrowing a ploughed field with an old-fashioned spike-toothed harrow. Some of the teeth were a bit loose and came out. This gave the Irishman an idea. He got a stone and knocked out the rest of the teeth. My uncle went out there after while to see how the new hand was getting along. "How does she go, son?" he asked the hand. "Well, sorr," said the man, "it went rougher nor the divil and all av his imps at first; an' that's true fer ye; but I knocked out all av thim sharp stickers, and now it goes a bit smooder loike!"

A feller needs plenty of umbilli-cal resistance to withstand the bludgeoning of fate in these latter days, sho' nuff!

However, there is always something to be thankful for—there will be no regular session of the California Legislature this winter.

Mr. Bud Simmers was reading the newspaper one day and came across the word "octogenarian." "What's them things?" he asked. Nobody could say exactly. "Well, don't matter none," he said. "I reckon ever'body kin believe as they please; but me, I got to have meat to eat. Them old wishy-washy vegetables don't do me no good to eat 'em by they selfs."

Mister Peter Patterson of Pigeon Roost was the richest man in seven townships. He was so rich he could wear old clothes and drive around in a shabby buggy, and that was all right. Said to him one time: "Mister Peter, how did you get your first start in life; I suppose you commenced at the bottom and worked up, of course?" "Of course I never done nothin, of the sort, young feller," he replied. "I got my first start in life diggin' wells."

I have been writing on this string today for hours, hoping all the time that a real thought would come to me, but so far none has. I feel right dispirited, hoping these few lines may find you all the same.

Motorists frequently ask why the heat indicator rises when the engine is stopped. The principal reason is the lack of air circulation. When the car is in motion, the fan is drawing cool air through the radiator and the movement of the car also causes the motor heat to be blown away. When the car stops, steam arises from the circulating system and motor heat, which is no longer blown away, causes the indicator to register higher until the engine cools.

Keep the engine of your car clean. An occasional cleaning with kerosene and a short brush may uncover something that needs rely before starting the motor.

A hissing noise, like air escaping, when the engine is laboring can frequently be traced to a leak in the manfold or its connections.

Anything that makes tire changing easier should appeal to the average motorist. Applying a few drops of light oil to lugs when lubricating the car will make their removal easy.

When the battery fails to turn the motor over, check for a loose or sulphated battery terminal before deciding the battery is at fault.

If the engine fails to start after using the starter five or 10 seconds, it is an indication that something is wrong. To continue to use the starter without locating the troble is to drain the battery needlessly.

The American Medical Association reports that electricity under the pressure of a very low potential effects the heart, causing a tremor or wavering. This is why shocks of even such low voltage as that found in house circuits are sometimes fatal.

It is quite the fashion to criticize the legislature for turning out every two years about 1000 new laws and amendments to old laws. The practice is termed "flooding" the statute books. In reality but comparatively few of these enactments are new laws at all in the sense that they are rules of conduct. Mostly they are cleaning up of the state's business. — Chico Record.

Visitors to General Grant National Park will be able next summer to use a new road to the scenic vantage points on Park Ridge, from Rocking Rock to Lookout Tower.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Southern California at a convention recently reiterated a plea for enactment of a law that would give the federal government supervision over motion picture films before production. Why any more censoring, reviewing and interference with the films should be required is beyond our imagination. And why, we wonder, would Uncle Sam be any nearer infallible as a censor than anyone else now serving in that capacity? Why not try leaving the movie producers alone for a while, putting them on their honor, as it were, and awaiting developments?

A contemporary, commenting on Al Capone, remarks that since his blubbering in court "even the kind of damphools who formerly regarded him as something of a hero must see now that their idol is clay all the way up to his neck." But why stop at the neck?

UP AND DOWN THE STATE

CLUTTERING UP THE COURTS

Alphonse Capone, recognized everywhere as the boss hoodlum and a master criminal, has been convicted of cheating the government out of a couple of hundred thousand dollars of income tax money. He is liable to go to prison immediately for a long stretch. Liable, but not likely.

His battalion of high-priced attorneys promptly started their campaign to defeat the will of the law and the verdict of the jury. No doubt there will be the usual train of appeals, exceptions, postponements and the like, based upon trivial technicalities. The lawyers say they will carry the case to the supreme court and they no doubt will. There appears to be little prospect of Capone starting any prison service for at least two years, if he ever does.

Incidentlly, there are 5,000 liquor offenses charged against him, and innumerable other offenses might be added.

It is the theory of our government that every man shall have a fair chance, whether he gives his fellow citizens a fair chance or not. It seems like overdoing the matter of giving the criminal a chance when criminal lawyers are allowed to clutter up the machinery of justice with flagrant and transparent interferences. — Santa Rosa Press-Democrat.

DOLES AND TARIFF

After an excellent exhortation to courage and confidence and a plea to keep up sales campaigns and advertising, Charles M. Schwab told the American Steel Institute: "We have abundant evidence in Europe of the ruinous effects of doles and subsidies and artificial stimulants. We owe it to our people to see that these vicious uneconomic practices do not gain a foothold in this country."

We wonder if Mr. Schwab has ever heard of the Smoot-Hawley tariff, and if so how he classifies it in relation to "subsidies and artificial stimulants?" He is certainly correct about the "ruinous effects," but it is somewhat late to speak of seeing that "uneconomic practices do not gain a foothold in this country." — San Francisco News.

FAITH IN THE FUTURE

The Rockefeller interests, with their colossal plan to build Radio City, within the city of New York, with 10 great units, will not only contribute a substantial feature to that city, but they are going to render a very great service in this era of business depression by beginning operations now. Three units are to be built at once, and contracts in the amount of 50 millions of dollars have been let.

This means that nearly 6000 men will be employed on the three buildings, one of them alone covering 2,723,000 square feet.

This building will require 50,000 tons of structural steel, 5,500,000 common brick, 700,000 square yards of plastering, 10,000 barrels of lime, and will have 6000 windows and 5300 doors.

The transportation companies will receive a much needed lift in carrying this material into the city. Three hundred and thirty thousand tons will be required, calling for the loading of 12,500 freight cars, which in itself would make a train 100 miles long. There will be 3000 carloads of steel, 1700 cars of cement, 1150 cars of plaster and 5500 cars of light iron, metal and wire.

Faith in the future? The Rockefeller interests have it. Already a mortgage has gone on record covering an indebtedness of $65,000,000 for the three units now to be builded, and the future promises well for the material men and for labor, as seven units are still to be planned.—Bakersfield Californian.

THE LUCKY CHAPLIN BOYS

Nine-year-old Charles Chaplin Jr. and his little brother Sydney, a year younger, managed to get along on $7185 during the year. Board, clothing, amusements and incidentals, including a nurse, ran to $3676 for Charles and $3509 for Sydney. Charles managed a little better than his younger brother. His clothes cost only $528, while it cost $540 to keep Sydney in knickers. Even so, both boys spent less than they did the year before, when their expenses were $7275. Exactly how the difference of $72 was saved was not disclosed when Lita Grey Chaplin, former wife of Chaplin, filed the year's accounting in court in Los Angeles.

Less fortunate was the youth of the father. In his boyhood he did not dream of anything like the annual allowance of $6,000 he settled on each of his sons at the time of his divorce. Hard knocks were the lot of his boyhood, and long after, until the knocks were softened and his fortune made by pies.

Chaplin made the world laugh and no one will begrudge the good fortune of the boys he has saved from hard knocks. Some, however, may deem it a pity that the yearly accounting which included the cost of the boys' board overlooked details. It would have been interesting to learn how much was spent on custard pies.—San Francisco Chronicle.

THE FOREST FIRE YEAR

Figures in a report say the California fire loss in areas patrolled or supervised by state forestry forces is nearly four times that of 1930. Those who seek to mark down the havoc in dollars and cents add the bill is $1,170,803. It may be presumed a correspondingly heavier loss was sustained this year in the areas patrolled by the National Forest Service and in the unpatrolled regions and that the total recko ing would be a number of million dollars.

From the start of the season an abnormal loss was expected. The winter had been dry, the forest floors were ready for the flames, and the smoke clouds started rising earlier than in any recent year. The only good mark made this year was that which shows a decrease in grain fires and may be accounted for, at least partially, to the regulations against throwing burning tobacco from motor cars.

There were more fires in the forests this year, more work in the fighting of them, and more victories achieved by men toiling in the smoke and heat. With natural conditions of the kind to aggravate the situation, additional losses were occasioned by incendiaries, some few of whom have been apprehended. In these instances it was generally found that existing laws do not permit of punishment to meet the crime and it is probable that, with the first opportunity, more stringent laws will be written in the books.

Forest service men, state and national, welcoming the end of the season of their most serious problem, are now turning their attention to next year. They ask that when the annual battle comes again they will be the better reinforced by public co-operation. — Oakland Tribune.

SIGNS OF BETTER TIMES

Business is picking up. The latest national map of economic conditions shows a widening white strip along the New England coast, and white spots are appearing in other parts of the country. Wheat prices are rising, having advanced 25 per cent since the low level was touched. Cotton has a stronger market flavor. On the West coast, butter and eggs are more firm, and give promise of further improvement.

When New England prospers, it is because order for manufactured goods are pouring in from all parts of America; hence there may be conclusion that general merchandising is on the upgrade.

Drought, grasshoppers, low prices for farm products and other untoward circumstances have been severe handicaps in Midwest areas: but even from these regions come encouraging reports, to the effect that by means of diversified crops the wolf is being kept from the door. In Minnesota, for example, the number of bankrupt farmers is infinitesimal. Better quotations for grain and other products of the soil now spread hope throughout the agricultural districts.

Add to these natural causes for revival, the stimulus given by a vast program of public work and a continual exodus of alien laborers; and there is seen a number of very good reasons for expecting a definite turn in industrial and business fortunes. Not all of the obstacles have been overcome; but recovery may be expected to be rapid once the tide sets in in definite fashion.—Long Beach Press-Telegram.

The unemployed, of course, constitute a problem in themselves. But if those who are employed and those who have definite incomes would only spend their money as they do in normal times, the increased demand for commodities would enliven retail trade, which would enliven wholesale trade, which would enliven manufacturing, which would reduce unemployment.—Porterville Recorder.

MAKING AMENDS

May Dixon Thacker, who says she was tricked and deluded into writing for Gaston Means a sensationally exploited book called "The Strange Death of President Harding," is now convinced she had part in a hoax which should be exposed. Her repudiation, carried in a weekly magazine, says: "It is with humiliation that I feel constrained to state—in justice to myself and in justice to the dead and to all fair-minded people—that I have been brought to realize that I have been unwittingly an agent in perpetrating upon the public what I now believe is a tremendous hoax."

Sorrowful as she is, the amanuensis of the discredited Means cannot hope to recall the harm she has wrought. The book in which she had a hand went out to feed the large appetite for slander. Though it was never credited by those who knew its subject and origin, it was peddled broadcast. Mrs. Thacker's regret, though late, appears sincere and it is to be hoped the news of her repudiation spreads as far as did the scurrilous story. — Oakland Tribune.

BOYS THEN AND NOW

Dr. Logan Clendening, Kansas City's writing doctor, takes a cruel slap at psychologists in a United Press interview commenting on the warning of a Columbia professor that girls who are the life of the party make poor wives.

"Have you," asks he, "in the last 10 years seen any statement by any psychologist that was worthy of the attention of a 10-year-old boy on his way to the railroad station to watch the trains come in?"

Psychology has undoubtedly attracted more than its share of faddists and charlatans, largely because it is a new field in which one man's theory is as good as another's.

But what interests us is the doctor's assumption that boys still go to the station to watch the trains come in. He gives himself away there as one who is probably bald or graying. When a boy wishes to see action these days he streaks it for the nearest airport. The slow and clumsy locomotive moves him only to yawns. — San Francisco News.

Probably no other civilized people are bound by so many legal restrictions as we are—and it is certain that no other civilized people are plagued by so much crime, or have so conspicuously failed in apprehending and convicting criminals. That is something legislators and voters might take into account when the time for consideration of new laws comes again.—Red Bluff News.

MR. UHL'S UPHILL FIGHT

Apparently one Adolph Uhl, for several years a superiorly critical citizen of San Francisco, is finding that the ways of the "No" man do not lead to candidate popularity.

For some time he has been the loud voice to those who would find fault with municipal administrations. And it can not be questioned that he has found plenty of things to find fault with.

But his being a candidate for mayor is something yet again. Commonly we do not entrust to office men of fault finding temperament. There is something in democracy reluctant to resorting to the "root and branch" personality.

As it is, there is a unanimous agreement among San Francisco newspapers, who ordinarily never agree on municipal politics, that one, Angelo Rossi, long time supervisor and now mayor by succession to James Rolph, shall now hold the office by right of election.

If it should happen that Mr. Uhl be elected, he would have the laugh on the newspapers.

Also he would have that chance, so rarely occurring, and when occurring so rarely successful, for a fault finder to show exactly what he would do in case he had the chance.

Usually we select men for administration who can adjust complaints, rather than those who are skillful in making them.—Fresno Republican.

The average dollar bill remains in circulation a little less than two years. When it becomes worn by handling it is returned to the United States Treasury Department where it is destroyed and a new bill is issued to take its place.

PENNEY TELLS HOW TO RESTORE TRADE BALANCE

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—J. C. Penney, founder of the J. C. Penney Co., one of the larger chain store organizations of the country, speaking before the Kiwanis Club, here, said:

"Business at the present time is going to the men or organizations which are most completely adapting themselves to present day conditions.

"Just as the economist starts insisting that the world must be rebuilt in general, because there is no more business and no way to put life into what little there is left; someone comes along with the Empress Eugenie hat, and the hat making centers of the country go on a 24-hour day schedule.

"The wool industry listens to its own obituary, read to it by despairing workers in its own field, an dthen designers begin to call for wool in dresses. The wool centers start buzzing with activity, and there seems to be plenty of money to buy their output.

"The designers who created the Empress Eugenie hats and those who devised wool dresses that pleased public fancy were doing in their own fields just what our store managers were doing in theirs, when they put their finger on the pulse of local demands in their communities.

"There were merchants, in every locality, who were doing outstanding jobs in their community. And back of these jobs was always positive evidence that such merchants had put their fingers on the pulse of the present situation.

"Recent figures used to discuss the present economic situation revealed the fact that there are around 40,000,000 people employed in gainful occupations in this country at the present time.

"If each of these 40,000,000 people were to spend one dollar a day more than they are spending, at the present time, the entire shrinkage in trade volume, shown in yearly retail sales volume, since the start of the present slump in buying, would be restored.

"In spending this extra dollar a day, those who are at present employed would be bettering their own jobs and making new jobs for those who are, at present, unemployed.

"One dollar in circulation is worth about four hidden away in the mattress or in the sugar bowl."

Bissell Wins Photo Of Dirigible Akron

Word has been received by Bissell Tire & Battery Service, Goodyear dealer at 2093 Broadway, of the award of a beautiful art photograph of the U. S. S. Akron, world's largest airship, framed in duralumin, the material used in the framework structure of this leviathan of the air.

Mr. Bissell wins the picture, now displayed in his service station window, for making his sales quota in the July-August sales contest for Goodyear dealers, known as the Dealers Annual Zeppelin sales race.

Mr. Bissell says, "the sales contest was of great value in helping us get the maximum amount of business this summer, and it put Goodyear tires on the cars of many people who did not know what our service could do for them."

Mr. Bissell has been a Goodyear dealer in this city for four years.

$2.50 for your junky old heater on a new Electric Heater

ELECTRIC heat is practical and economical for quick warmth when you are dressing, bathing, shaving, or when you come home cold.

Trade in your old heater

Have you an old heater — oil, wood, coal, or electric — that has seen better days? We will allow you $2.50 for it on a new $12.50 Wesix Cent-a-Watt. That means you get the Cent-a-Watt for $10.

The Cent-a-Watt will give you long years of safe, healthful, circulating warmth. It is approved by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

One user says, "The Cent-a-Watt is a wonderful heater for bathrooms or any small room."

It HEATS the air

The heater is built upon the same principles as its successful big brothers which heat entire schools, apartment houses, churches, and homes. But the Cent-a-Watt requires no special wiring. It is light in weight and finished in aluminum.

We are making this trade-in offer for a short time only. So come into our office or a dealer's store and select your heater. Or, better still, telephone your order. Then you will be sure of your heater immediately.

We are not having a sale. However, people snap up an offer like this one quickly. Those customers who turn in an old heater will get a new heater for $10. George W. Webb did so well with his berry crop this season that he is increasing his acreage. He has 20 acres of strawberries and 15 acres of raspberries in full bearing. The expansion will consist of about 20 acres.

The Trinity Episcopal church rummage sale, in the parish hall yesterday, was a decided succes, the ladies making a tidy sum. This annual affair is always well patronized.

Dom Ryan is nursing a sprained wrist and foot, sustained in falling from a horse on Santa Cruz avenue The animal slipped and fell, throwing Ryan heavily to the pavement. He will be well for the opening of the duck season, on November 16. He is an expert hunter.

Arthur M. Brown, who was elected a supervisor in San Francisco on Tuesday, is widely known in Menlo Park. His father, Arthur M. Brown, Sr., owned the Felton Gables on Encinal avenue until recently. Brown received a big vote and was the only outsider to make the grade—all the rest being incumbents.

Miss Pearl McCormick has resumed her duties with the social service department of the county government at Redwood City, after on absence of eight months. Miss McCormick spent some time in Arizona and in other states further east. She will probably establish her residence in Redwood City.

W. L. Murphy, editor and owner of the Sonoma Index-Tribune, was here on Saturday with a view of leasing his holding on Santa Cruz avenue. Mr. Murphy owns the Marvin tract of fifteen acres, bequeathed him by the late C. W. Smith. The property adjoins the Smith estate. It is valuable realty. It was formerly owned by Marvin, the head trainer for Senator Stanford. It was he who brought fame to the Stanford Stock Form, by his clever training of the horses bred on the famous farm.

The large and beautiful bay tree on the corner of Harvard Road and El Camino Real that has for years been the admiration of all travelers, is being cut down, to make way for the construction of a service station. It was probably 1500 years old and all these years it has sheltered the weary. Here the birds found a home and reared their young. Here the feathered songsters sent forth their sweetest notes to their creator. The bay tree is rapidly disappearing from the peninsula. Only a few of them now remain. This one is probably the only tree of its kind left in Stanford Park. Tony, of Tony's Taxi fame, is performing the work of destruction.

R. Gruys, a resident of Maple Lake, Minn., met with an automobile accident on Santa Cruz avenue, last Saturday. Some weeks ago, accompanied by a friend, he left home on a motorcycle, to visit his aunt, Mrs. Bierce, here. The young men crossed the Rockies and the Sierras in safety, and it was not until they reached Menlo Park that misfortune befell them. Young Gruys, in searching for the home of his relative, dashed into Santa Cruz avenue, colliding with an automobile, sustaining a compound fracture of his right leg. He was removed immediately to the Palo Alto hospital for treatment. Gruys is now at the home of his aunt.

The State Highway Commission has limited the use of the traffic signals on Santa Cruz avenue and the Highway to the hours of 6:45 to 8:30 o'clock, and at 12 noon, also from 4:30 to 6:30 in the afternoon. They may be used all day on Sundays.

James Murray, the turkey baron, reports that his turkey crop this year has been diminished by decease, and that he will not have a big supply. However, he believes he will have sufficient to satisfy the wants of his many friends. Mr. Murroy's gobblers, with the wattle necks, are always the best in the market.

Mrs. Edna Yose has purchased the Gumwood Inn on the Middlefield Road and will formally open the place this evening. Hereafter the resort is to be known as the Oakwood Inn.

W. T. Casey has been awarded the contract for the plumbing work on the new Italian Club house on Live Oak Lane. Mr. Casey expects to finish the job in two weeks. Casey is an optimist. He says business was never better in Menlo Park.

The Menlo Park Planning Commission held a meeting in the city hall Monday evening, to hear protests against the tentative report of the commission in amending certain sections to the zoning law. The amendment to allow social club houses and the like in zones B and C which zones now permit theatres to be established. A verbal protest from Alexander Walker to the establishment of an Italian club house to be established near him on Live Oak lane engendered some severe comment from the members of the commission and Walker and others. The building is now being erected and most likely will be completed by the time the proposed ordinance is odopted. Walker vehemently denounced the proceedings in establishing the club house in that neighborhood. Weeden, a member of the commission answered Walker by saying that the club house was in operation for years in another portion of the zone but no protest was ever made until a removal was sought. He alleged that the protest savored of personalities. Mr. and Mrs. DeNatalie also protested, together with a few others.

John B. Fracchi defended the commission in the proposed amendment, declaring that the new club house would be conducted orderly and according to law. There were no protests against the other proposed amendments. Mr. Carroll commended the other changes An adjournment was taken to Monday night, next, for further deliberations.

Daniel Sullivan, the well-known dramatist and attorney, has opened an office in the Sutton building, where he has selected quarters adjoining the offices of Judge Davis. Mr. Sullivan is a graduate of the Georgetown College, and for some years was probate judge in Utah. He has few equals as a dramatist and as an attorney he con compete with the best of 'em.

C. Magolugo, living in the Filipino colony on Arbor Road, was stabbed by a companion, S. Robillo, in a brawl Wednesday evening. The police were called and arrested Robillo, who will appear before Judge Hoss this morning. Magolugo was badly cut on the arm with a sharp instrument.

Judge Hoss, proprietor of the Melody Bake Shop, has begun the baking of his celebrated Melody California fruit cakes, that have found ready sale all over the world. The product was sent to all the eastern states and Europe, and the Hawaiian Islands, last year, and the order coming in this year are now being filled by Mr. Hoss. Last season 4000 pounds were shipped from the bakery. A large amount is to be disposed of this year. Mr. Hoss, after much study, worked out a formula that is to bring him fame and fortune. During the holiday season the local bakery will be kept busy filling orders.

Five million acres of lumber were burned by forest fires in the United States during 1930, the Forest Service reports.

PENINSULA FILM SHOWN TO HOOVER

If President Herbert Hoover was at all homesick during recent days, it may have been caused by his seeing the one-reel sound film, "A Ramble Round the Hoover Home," which was specially screened for him in the White House.

This information was sent to Roscoe D. Wyatt, manager of the San Mateo County Chamber of Commerce, by Lawrence Richey, personal secretary to the president. Wyatt prepared the film, which shows scenic points of interest in San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

Over 475,000 persons have now viewed the sound film, with the latest report showing 14,715 spectators for September.

McSweeney Reports Tax Collections Good

Tax Collector A. McSweeney has completed a tour of the county collecting taxes and reports that he has never found collections better. Notwithstanding the alleged depression, he found money easier to get, and discovered the taxpayers happier and more prosperous than ever before.

In Half Moon Bay the first and second installments of taxes were paid readily, the farmers apparently having oodles of coin. Mr. McSweeney is hopeful that there will not be a large delinquent list next year.

Local Historian Publishes New California History

Roy W. Cloud, the widely known historian, has just completed a concise history of California, which is on the press and will soon be ready for delivery. This book is to be widely read, as it is splendidly written, and nicely illustrated. Mr. Cloud is one of the best informed men on the history of the state and has visited every mission and every town on the coast. From early manhood Mr. Cloud has made a deep study of the events of the state, from the days of Cabrillo to the present time. His hisory of San Moteo County, published some time ago, was well received and highly complimented on by the people of the county. The history had a large sale. For many years Mr. Cloud had been the historian for the Grand Parlor of Native Sons. The new publicotion will be read with interest.

CARDS TO TRY PASSES TO BEAT TROY POWER

By RAY LEAVITT

Stanford passes versus Trojan power.

The two-yard gaining methods, proved throughout the season as the best means of the respective teams for advancing the ball, go on display in the Olympic Stadium Saturday afternoon in a battle for points to decide the winner of the annual Stanford-U. S. C. grid classic and probably the Pacific Coast Conference teams champion for 1931.

Cards Have Power

Although the Stanford backfield of Allen, Hillman, Moffatt and Caddel possesses plenty of power of its own, and the Trojans can display a well executed air attack, still the Cardinals' best bet seems to be passes, while the Southern Californians will depend on those powerful smashes off tackle and end, which has enabled them to roll up the staggering total of 127 points against four conference opponents.

Stanford in three conference games has defeated Oregon State, 25 to 7; U. C. L. A., 12 to 6, and played Washington a scoreless tie. Of the Cards' four touchdowns against Oregon State, three were the direct result of passes, as were the two against the Uclans. Passes played a major role in the Stanford victories over West Coast Army, Santa Clara and Minnesota, non-conference opponents.

A running attack that has failed to "click" has held the Cardinals back this season, and has resulted in them being labeled the "mystery" team of the coast. Injuries to several of their star performers at various times throughout the season, the desire of Warner to save his best performers for the crucial games, no doubt has prevented the team from showing at its best. Pointing for the Trojans ever since the Cards were trounced, 41 to 12, last year, Warner will throw his greatest strength against the Trojans, and an improved offensive is looked for by Cardinal supporters.

Line Big Problem

Stanford's best chances for victory Saturday, however, depends on the line. If the forwards can stop those Trojan power plays, and the California Bears showed that they can be stopped. The Warner lateral and forward pass offense, as varied and deceptive as any in the country, can more than hold its own as a scoring threat with any that Howard Jones may use. An even battle in the line, forcing both teams to take to the airways, is Stanford's best chance of upsetting the Trojans.

Tommy Glover and Phil Wilson, halfbacks, both down with injuries, will not perform against the Trojans. Phil Moffatt, whose effectiveness this year has been reduced through ankle and back injuries, definitely will play. So, too, will Kenny Afflerbaugh, remembered for his 81-yard run to a touchdown against Oregon State. Afflerbaugh has a slight cold, but it is not serious enough to keep the hard playing halfback on the bench.

Warner's probable starting lineup has Colvin and Tod, ends; Hand and Ehrhorn, tackles; Bigelow and Corbus, guards; Milligan, center; Capt. Harry Hillman, quarterback; Phil Moffatt, left halfback; Ernie Caddel, right halfback, and "Dusty" Allen, fullback. That is Warner's best combination, both defensively and offensively, with the presence of Tod and Colvin, pass-snatching ends, tipping off his hand as to his hopes of gaining through the air.

Local Boxers Win Ambler Club Bouts At Stockton Show

Fighting for Stockton's unemployed, Silvio Boicelli, Redwood City's little crack 112-pounder, stole the Ambler Club's show at Stockton Civic Auditorium Wednesday winning a close decision over Ignacio Eslena. The boys had the fans on their toes all through the encounter.

Joe Rondon, another local amateur, chalked up an impressive victory in his string last night when he beat Jack Vaughn, Pacific Coast amateur champion in the lightweight division. Vaughn was the favorite in the 135-pound bout. Rondon came close to winning the coast championship himself, and has been beating the champs since.

Benny Marquez, stablemate of Rondon, won a thrilling three-rounder from Bill Casey, featherweight from the Six-In-One Club, San Francisco.

No wonder the world still is awed by Lindbergh. Though surrounded by reporters he hasn't suggested a scheme to make times good.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Belmont Race Is Called Off When Dog Chases Rabbit

The greyhound took his revenge on the mechanical rabbit at the Belmont track Wednesday night.

It happened in the fifth race, when Dash Away jumped the fence, cut across the infield and caught the rabbit on the back stretch. The other hounds followed his example and the excelsior stuffed hare was completely destroyed. The race was called off and the option money returned.

Ten races will be held on tonight's card.

Walker Pigeon First In Race From Nevada

An entry of George Walker, San Carlos, won first place for the Redwood City Racing Pigeon Club in the Central California combine race for young birds Monday over the 318-mile route from Imlay, Nev. Because of a snow storm over the Sierra Nevada mountains, there were no first-day returns.

The results: George Walker, San Carlos, 730.93 yards per minute; Arthur Doppee, Sr., Redwood City, 698.73; J. Waltman, San Francisco, 562.49; George Walker, 550.43; Arthur Doppee, Sr., 549.62; R. Johnson, San Francisco, 524.25; Arthur Doppee, Sr., 502.75; W. James, Oakland, 497.46; Victor Doppee, Redwood City, 487.76 and 470.41.

L. A. Man Leads State Trapshooters

A. J. Stauber of Los Angeles is leading California shooters in preliminary averages just released by the Amateur Trapshooting Association, although he is likely to find plenty of opposition from Henry Pfirrmann, also of Los Angeles, before the season officially closes, December 1.

At the present time Stauber has a mark of .9628 on 700 targets while Pfirrmann is in second place with .9600 on 500 targets.

Dr. J. H. Bradfield of Monterey, who can always be relied upon to be right up among the leaders, is in third position with .9512 on 800 clays. Fourth place is now held by John F. Goodrich of Hollywood with B. A. Gillespie of Beverly Hills in fifth position.

Tanforan Track Opens Fall Race Meet at 2 Today

Tanforan race track will open its 26-day fall racing meeting Friday afternoon with the Inaugural handicap, followed by the San Bruno handicap on Saturday.

Among the stake horses showing promise for the opening races are My Dandy and Brown Wisdom of the Reicher Brothers' stables; Hand to Hand, Pasadena entry; Schooner, Sharp Thoughts and Miss. Marion Hollins' Nevada Queen.

Jim Dandy, the 100-1 shot that beat Gallant Fox in the Travers' stake at Saratoga last year, is en route west under the care of his trainer, John B. McKee, and should be a figure in the Tanforan season, especially the San Francisco handicap. Jim Dandy excels as a mud runner.

The first race is at 2 o'clock.

Bunn Predicts Card Win In 20-30 Talk

PALO ALTO, November 5.—Greater defensive strength and manpower will give Stanford a win over Southern California next Saturday, predicted John Bunn, Cardinal basketball coach, speaking before the 20-30 club at its weekly meeting last night.

Bunn illustrated his talk with moving pictures of the California-U. S. C. game, showing how the Howard Jones' power plays failed to gain against the Bears.

Piers Wins Stanford Club Golf Match

PALO ALTO, November 5.—Manuel Piers won over M. H. Newell this morning, in a third flight match of the Stanford Golf Club's annual championship play by a margin of 4 up. Yesterday V. G. Pierson defeated Frank Wishon in a second flight match, 5 up.

Trojans Seek Fourth

The offensive power is there, but the Cards must stop Mohler, Shaver, Musick, Pinckert, Mallory, et al., at the line and on passes, if they are to prevent the Trojans from hanging up their fourth consecutive victory over the Indians. The redskins have not won since 1926, although they held the Southern Californians to a 13-to-13 tie in 1927.

BELMONT WINS OVER SEQUOIA ELEVEN, 12-9

Coach Milt Axt's Belmont School varsity football team defeated the Sequoia reserves in a practice game Wednesday afternoon at Redwood City by a score of 12 to 9.

Belmont scored twice in the first half, on a 70-yard run by Gordon Kenaston, right halfback, on a fast-breaking play without a shift, and another run by his brother, Bob Kenaston, left halfback. Neither conversion was good.

In the third period Stuart Goldthwaite scored for Sequoia on a quarterback sneak that terminated a 61-yard drive. Elliott, fullback, added the extra point on a line buck.

The Cherokees forced the Belmont gridders to a defensive game in the fourth quarter after Wilbur Preston recovered a Belmont fumble on the Belmont 20-yard line. An incomplete pass, Costa to Thimler, ended Sequoia's chances for another touchdown, and Belmont took possession of the ball with few minutes of play remaining. Sequoia held for three straight plays, and rather than lose possession of the ball by kicking, Gordon Kenaston of Belmont took a voluntary safety by being tackled behind the goal line. This gave Sequoia two points, but Belmont had a free kick from the 20-yard line and booted out of danger as the game ended.

Both teams used the Santa Clara variations of the Notre Dame shift, as Coach Axt of Belmont and Coaches Leonard Casanova and Albert Terremere were trained in the Rockne formations together at the Bronco institution.

Belmont, victorious over Fremont and most of the Peninsula Athletic League reserve teams, will meet Damon School of San Francisco at Burlingame November 13 for the private school championship. Yesterday's lineups:

REPLACEMENTS NEAR FIRST-STRING CALIBRE

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—Mustering their strongest combinations, rival coaches of the universities of California and Washington today named the football elevens which will face each other Saturday afternoon at California Memorial Stadium. The game, the eighteenth to be played by the two institutions since 1904, is to start at 2 o'clock.

Both teams will be at full strength, according to the lineups named by Coaches W. A. "Bill" Ingram, of California, and Jimmy Phelan, of Washington.

California, just emerging from a long seige of injuries, will lack the services of a first-string end, guard and quarterback, but replacements of close to first-string calibre have been developed.

In place of Louis DiResta, Joe Kaufmann, first-year player, will start at right end for the Bears. Sammy Gill, veteran, will replace Bob McArthur at right guard, and Joe Smith will call signals in place of Ed Kirwan, who is ill with the "flu."

Both teams will present light backfields, but the Husky quartet will hold a considerable edge over the Bears in two departments, speed in running open plays and in passing, since they have two flashy ball-carriers and passers in Merle Hufford and Bill Marsh, south-paw passer.

Saturday, 2:30 p. m.—Freshman football teams of Stanford and the University of California in their annual game. At Stanford stadium.

Three hundred and eighty bridges will be constructed in Ohio this winter.

S. J. Lightweights Win Football Title

San Jose high school won its first football championship in 10 years by defeating the Sequoia 130-pound football team yesterday afternoon at San Jose by a score of 28 to 0.

The San Jose lightweight gridders, undefeated in three Peninsula Athletic League games, have one more contest on their schedule, with Palo Alto, but both Palo Alto and Sequoia are out of the running following the victory which clinched the title for San Jose yesterday.

After a series of gains which took the ball to the Sequoia one-yard line as the first quarter ended, Duer of San Jose plunged over for a touchdown. Again in the second period Simpson, halfback, broke away for a 40-yard run off tackle for the second score.

On the first play of the fourth quarter Duer again bucked over from the one-yard line and repeated shortly afterward following another steady advance down the field. Sands, halfback, converted three of the extra points on line plays and Simpson added the fourth on an end run. Cassazza, end; Andrews, and Yakobovich, 120-pound center, were outstanding in the San Jose line.

Coach Dick Whiting's Sequoia eleven will play off a tie with Palo Alto for second place in the league standing.

U. C. To Stage I. C. 4-A Track Meet, July 8-9

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—The I. C. 4-A. track and field meet, classic of intercollegiate track competition, will be held Friday and Saturday, July 8 and 9, 1932, on the new University of California track and field. Definite announcement of the dates was made today by W. W. Monahan, graduate manager of the associated students, upon receipt of word from Gustavus T. Kirby, chairman of the advisory board of the intercollegiate association.

Originally scheduled for a week earlier, the new dates were selected to avoid a conflict with the holiday week-end of July 4. The present schedule will place the intercollegiate one week before the date of the final American Olympic Games tryouts, which probably will be held in the Stanford stadium.

Some three or four hundred athletes, representing all of the major schools associated with the I. C. 4-A. will be entered in the two-day events. Incidentally, this meet will mark the first time that some of the universities and colleges entered will have teams competing in the Far West.

According to Monahan, the event will also serve to draw alumni groups of many of the institutions together in reunions. Arrangements for these meetings are already under way.

Menlo's 130-Lb. Team Defeats Damon, 7-6

Menlo school's 130-pound football team defeated the Damon preps Wednesday by a score of 7 to 6. Capt. Gilbert Bovet made the only touchdown for the Menlans running 80 yards to a touchdown in the initial quarter. Menlo converted to add what proved to be the winning point, Damon pushing over a score in the fourth quarter, but failing to kick goal.

In a game played on the Belmont school turf, the Menlo 110-pound team lost to the Belmont lightweights by a 24 to 0 score.

Record Crowd To Watch Indians Battle Trojans

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—The biggest crowd that has ever seen a football game in the West will witness the University of Southern California-Stanford struggle for the Pacific Coast Conference championship here Saturday, according to Arnold Eddy, Trojan general manager, today.

According to Eddy, a little less than 10,000 tickets at $2.50 and a few at $3.50 will go on sale when the Olympic Stadium box offices open at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Last year when Southern California and Notre Dame played here, the coliseum, then under process of enlargement, held 87,000 fans. Today the finished stadium will seat 101,000, and if the game is not a complete sell-out it will come so close to it that the record set by the Notre Dame game last season will be far surpassed.

Although Coach Jones declares that he will not decide upon his starting lineup until the morning of the game, indications are that he will open with the eleven that he has called Team A during the past week. This combination consists of Johnny Baker, the running guard, at left end; Tay Brown at left tackle, Rosy Rosenberg at running guard, Capt. Stan Williamson at center, John Dye at right guard, Ernie Smith at right tackle and Garry Arbelbide at right end in the line.

The backfield will have the customary starting quartet of Gus Shaver at quarterback, Jim Musick at full and Erny Pinckert and Tom Mallory at halfback. Orv Mohler will get into the game probably in the second quarter, but it is doubtful if he will see a great deal of action because of recent injuries.

P. A., Burlingame Cagers Meet Friday

Coach George Stewart's Palo Alto high school lightweight basketball teams meet Burlingame in the Palo Alto gym tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Viking 120-pound team hope for its second victory over Burlingame, but will be working with the odds against them. "Stew's" smaller team will be out for its first win of the year.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

LONDON.—Natives in African and eastern countries idolize the idol eyes made in England. A firm on Oxford street receives numerous orders from these countries to make artificial eyes for the idols. Dusel also asked that the city repair the clock in the fire house auditorium at a cost not to exceed $10, which also was referred to the city manager.

Main street assessments on the new bridge project were approved as presented by the city engineer.

Fire R sks Studied

City Manager Rolison informed the council that the city engineer has prepared tracings of the buildings back of Broadway and the city hall, and that the building inspector, fire chief and city manager will confer with the property owners and prepare a report for the November 16 meeting.

Regularity of placing the culvert fund surplus in the general fund, questioned by L. A. De Rosa in his last year's audit, was referred by the council to City Attorney Albert Mansfield on motion of Councilman Paul McCarthy.

City Attorney Mansfield reported that the 1915 foreclosure suits were about completed and will be ready for filing shortly.

Election Precincts

The city attorney also reported his plan of consolidating three county precincts into one city precinct, giving the city eight precincts and the county 24 as heretofore, he said. This is necessary as early as possible because the law now requires 40 days' residence in a precinct. The next city election will be in April.

In a letter to the council, James D. Hedge, former publisher of the Redwood City Standard, official city newspaper, reported that that newspaper had been consolidated with the Redwood City Tribune and will cease publication as a weekly.

Sam H. Winklebleck, publisher of the Redwood City Tribune, sent a communication to the board bidding for the city printing. He also addressed the board as to charges for legal printing.

On motion of Councilman Lambert, the matter was referred to City Attorney Mansfield for his report.

Darkness of Broadway just west of El Camino Real caused City Councilman McCarthy to protest against the lack of a light at this point, and the matter was referred to City Electrician Collins and City Manager Rolison for further study.

Friends Shocked By Death Of Miss Emily Lynch

The sudden and untimely death of Miss Emily Lynch, last Monday morning, was a severe shock to her family and friends. Apparently in good health the night before, she retired in the best of spirits. She passed away in the morning's gray dawn, just when the warmth of the sun began to penetrate the cosy room that was to be a death chamber.

Miss Lynch was born in Menlo Park of a pioneer family that came here in the 70's. After the death of her parents, many years ago, she enrolled in the Ursuline Convent, Santa Rosa, graduating with honors some years later and returned to the place of her birth, remaining here until her demise.

Her father, the late Michael Lynch, was the florist who first began raising flowers in this count for the San Francisco market, an industry that has grown to such stupenduous proportions since that time. Mr. Lynch was an expert horticulturist, receiving his education in the Botanical Gardens of London. The Lynch Nurseries, established by him in the 90's, were widely patronized by the people of the peninsula and were the show places of this locality some 25 years age. Mr. Lynch laid out the grounds of the Flood estate and the Stanford University. He won fame as a landscape gardener. His services were always in demand.

Miss Lynch had not yet reached life's meridian, for she was still in her early 30's, still in love with life and its beauties. Her passing is a severe loss, a distinct shock to her relatives and her many friends in the community.

The funeral on Wednesday, was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends from all portions of the bay region. Interment was in Holy Cross cemetery.

The deceased is survived by three sisters, Mrs. F. P. Roach, Mrs. William Wilson and Miss Rose Lynch, and by three brothers, James, Joseph and M. Lynch, and by seven nephews and one niece.

HE'S SAVING

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Athom Miller is saving. He was arrested on intoxication charges. He offered $10 for bond the next morning but, on finding he was charged with being drunk, demanded his bond money back, saying he wasn't guilty. He insisted on serving a short sentence to work off his fine and save the money.

Doors of an inclosed motor truck of a hauler in Portland, Ore., swing downward to facilitate loading.

PIONEER PASSES

One by one the old pioneers are passing away—those men and women who blazed the trail and helped to build the community in which they lived and worked. The latest Menlo Park pioneer to answer the final call is Mrs. John Bracesco, who passed away Wednesday morning, following an illness extending over a year. Had she lived until next April she would have reached the 83d mile stone of her long life; sixty-two years of this long period having been passed in Menlo Park.

Mrs. Bracesco saw the light in Genoa, Italy, and after her marriage to John Bracesco, who survives her, came to California a short time after her husband, who had come here to build a home in the West for his bride. He came almost direct to Menlo Park to work for the late Faxon D Atherton, on whose large estate he had been employed for a quarter of a century. He then took charge of the estate of Major Rathbone, who had married the beautiful daughter of Mr. Atherton, and there he labored for the major and subsequent owners of the property for nearly half a century, retiring some years ago to enjoy the fruits of his labors.

Mr. and Mrs. Bracesco lived in love and happiness all through the years, nothing occurring to mar the harmony of their lives. Tomorrow they would have celebrated the sixty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, a celebration that they had looked forward to with the most pleasant anticipations, but it was decreed otherwise, as death has intervened and separated the loving couple on the eve of the anniversary.

Mrs. Bracesco, during her long residence in Menlo Park, had earned the love and admiration of a wide circle of friends who now mourn her as a devoted mother, loving wife and splendid neighbor and a helpful resident of the community, one who had used her best efforts end energies for the moral upbuilding of the place she called her home.

Eight children were born to the couple, five of whom are living and a credit to the respective communities in which they live. They are Mrs. Frank Cooley, San Mateo; Mrs. P. Schroter, Burlingame; Frank, John and Agnes Bracesco, of Menlo Park.

The funeral is to take place this morning at the Church of the Nativity, at 9:30 o'clock, where a requiem mass is to be celebrated at that time. Interment in Holy Cross cemetery.

GAY ADVENTURERS
BY MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER 61

An Impasse

Sheila stared helplessly at Harry, when he declared angrily that he would return to London that night, and then burst into tears. The thought of having to tell Constance, on her arrival the next morning, that he had gone, was too much.

"You are per—perfectly heartless," she sobbed. "How can you say such a thing!"

"I'm not the one who is heartless," Harry flared. "It's you."

Dr. Mac looked on in astonishment. He had never seen Sheila so stirred, and the sight of her tears was more than he could bear. He put his arms around her and tried to console her.

That was more than Harry could bear. He seized Dr. Mac by the shoulder and whirled him about. "Don't attempt the role of big brother," he said. "It doesn't become you.'

The two men stood glaring at each other in silence, and Sheila realized that something had to be done. She wiped her eyes and turned appealing to Harry. "Please," she said, laying her hand on his arm, "don't go to London tonight. I have a special reason for asking you to stay. If you want to leave tomorrow night, I shan't object, but I don't want you to go now."

"Tell me what you wrote in the letter you just destroyed," Harry insisted.

Sheila smiled artlessly. "I—why—my father is coming to Cannes soon," she said, "and I—"

She paused as Harry shook his head and smiled derisively. "Of course," he said, "you couldn't tell me that, I suppose. You had to write a letter to tell me a simple fact. That story's not good enough."

His sarcasm made Sheila furious. She turned to Dr. Mac.

"I did receive a message from my father, didn't I, Malcolm?" she appealed. Dr. Mac nodded. "And he is coming soon," she continued, "so, if you don't want to believe what I'm trying to tell you, you needn't. And you are at liberty to go back to London any time you care to."

Her air of injured innocence was too much for Harry. Somehow, she always managed to put him in the wrong. Vaguely, he felt that she was doing it now, and he resented it. The whole thing seemed so unfair. He was the injured party, and yet she contrived to make him feel that she was being badly treated.

But his resentment faded as he looked at her tear-stained face. Suddenly he had a conviction that he had behaved very badly indeed.

"I'm sorry," he said. "I don't know why I was so ill-mannered." He held out his hand to Dr. Mac. "My apologies, Baxter. I guess I lost my head."

Almost as embarrassed as Harry, Dr. Mac smiled and shook hands. He looked wonderingly at Sheila. He couldn't remember that she had made an adequate explanation, and yet what she said seemed to have satisfied Edmonds.

"Why don't we join the others?" he suggested. "They'll be wondering what has become of us."

Harry groaned. "I'd forgotten all about the dinner party," he said. "What a host I am—quarreling with some of my guests and neglecting the others."

Sheila hastily powdered her nose and removed the traces of tears. On the way downstairs, she managed to whisper to Dr. Mac:

"That was a near thing, and I'll have to be very nice to him all evening, or he may flare up again. But, at least, he won't rush off to London on the eve of Constance's arrival."

"She'll probably arrive on the express from Paris," he returned. "I'll meet her and take her to a little pension near the station. You can see her there and arrange matters."

He had no other opportunity to speak to Sheila that evening, for Harry monopolized her every moment. He devoted himself to the Baronne, and to trying to cheer Bellefonte, who had been so sullen throughout dinner that Sheila was beginning to be apprehensive.

"Is it true that Mr. and Mrs. Kerr are soon to be with us?" asked the Count.

"She — er — Constance received word from her father several days ago, I believe. The time of his arrival is uncertain, as yet."

"When he comes, I have some important business that I wish to discuss with him, and then I'm off to Paris," said the Count.

"What business could you possibly have with him?" sniffed the Baronne.

"Wait and see," said Bellefont. "You will be told of it before long."

The cool menace of his tones made Dr. Mac very uneasy. He remembered it the next morning as he waited at the station for the train that he hoped would bring Constance to Cannes. How glad he would be to get Sheila away from all this intrigue! A few days, at the most, and they would be honeymooning in Italy. . . .

The train puffed in, and he rushed forward as the passengers from the first-class compartments entered the station. At the end of the line was Constance. She walked slowly, as if every step was an effort.

Dr. Mac was at her side in a second. His trained eye caught her pallor, her listlessness. He took her bag and tucked her hand under his arm.

"I'm ill," she faltered. "Dr. Gibbons forbade my coming, but I came anyway. Take me to some place where I can rest. I can't see any one for several days—not until I'm better."

STUDENTS OF ALL NATIONS TO TAKE PART IN PAGEANT

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—Russian songs, Japanese dances, Negro spirituals, and a Roman wedding will be among the acts to be featurned in "International Night," semi-annual stage presentation to be given in the auditorium of International House, on the University of California campus, at 8 o'clock, Friday and Saturday evenings, November 6 and 7.

The program which consists of eight acts by eight different national groups is under the direction of Edwin Duerr, University of California Little Theatre director. Japanese, Jewish, English, Italian, Negro, American, Russian and American Indian acts will be included in the performance.

A feature of the program will be an ancient Roman wedding ceremony performed by the Italian group, which will be an authentic representation.

Proceeds from the affair will go to the student friendship fund, used primarily for loans to foreign students, according to Allen C. Blaisdell, director of International House. Mary Kathryn Drake, senior student, will direct music, while Eugene Krischer will be in charge of stage settings.
